Meaning:

I pray to Lord Shiva, who dwells in the silvery snow-clad Himalayan Mountains. You are my teacher and God. I contemplate upon you always. You are a treasure trove of mercy and I will always bear that in mind. Mahādhēva, you are handsome and grant wishes to the Dhēvās. You wear the moon as your crown. You have always loved holy men. You are the personification of virtues and you annihilate sinners. Lord Chokkanātha, I shall not forego my religious activities but will always seek refuge in you.
